9 OUR LEGAL BASES FOR PROCESSING YOUR DATA

LEGITIMATE INTERESTS

Article 6(1)(f) of the GDPR is the one that is relevant here – it says that we can process your data where it "is necessary for the purposes of the legitimate interests pursued by [us] or by a third party, except where such interests are overridden by the interests or fundamental rights or freedoms of [you] which require protection of personal data."

We think it's reasonable to expect that if you have contacted us to provide you with a service, either an Energy Performance Certificate or a Craft Sale/Workshop/Talk that you are happy for us to collect and otherwise use your personal data in order to provide this service. If you decide not to proceed we do not retain your information.

If you contact us as an Agent to ask us to provide a Service e.g an EPC for your Client, we use and store the personal data of individuals within your organisation in order to facilitate the receipt of services from you. We also hold your financial details, should we need to pay you for your services. We deem all such activities to be necessary within the range of our legitimate interests as a recipient of your services.

10 CONSENT

We will not seek consent as we will not process your personal data beyond that required to provide the service you have contracted with us.

11 ESTABLISHING, EXERCISING OR DEFENDING LEGAL CLAIMS

Sometimes it may be necessary for us to process personal data and, where appropriate and in accordance with local laws and requirements, sensitive personal data in connection with exercising or defending legal claims. Article 9(2)(f) of the GDPR allows this where the processing "is necessary for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims or whenever courts are acting in their judicial capacity".

This may arise for example where we need to take legal advice in relation to legal proceedings or are required by law to preserve or disclose certain information as part of the legal process.
